

Rosemary Gibson

Rosemary Gibson, M.Sc., Senior Advisor, The Hastings Center, Perspectives Editor, JAMA Internal Medicine. I've participated in Telluride for a long time. My journey on patient safety started with writing Wall of Silence, the first book to tell the human story behind the IOM report, To Err is Human. While at the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, I designed and led a 12-year national strategy to integrate palliative care in inpatient settings. I wrote a book on overuse, The Treatment Trap, which inspired Consumer Reports to launch a consumer version of Choosing Wisely.
